Team Pacquiao amazed by Manny's newfound strength

It seems Manny Pacquiao has upped his game since his last bout. Seeing him in one of his training sessions with Coach Freddie Roach, he showed incredible improvements that can strike fear in the toughest of opponents.

"Improvement is an understatement," says Roach, while pointing out specific points of Pacquiao's newfound energy. According to Team Pacquiao, his footwork was impeccable the past few days, showing signs of progressing agility. One can hear the intensity of his punches, feeling them from beyond the ropes, as several members of his camp and a few spectators winced at each throw of a punch. There is no doubt that Pacquiao is more than recharged.

Manny's camp later revealed that one source of his strength is none other than malunggay.

He's been long a devoted believer that the vegetable gives him the strength and stamina he has when he trains and fights.

And now, his energy is stronger than ever with his new and now favorite energy drink Sting PowerPacq, that is packed and nourished with the real extracts of malunggay. His training and this newfound source of strength really makes for an undoubtedly powerful combination.

Manny Pacquiao: POSITIVE with Sting PowerPacq

Yesterday afternoon, the People's Champion, Manny Pacquiao, faced a capacity crowd at a Metro Manila hotel to answer questions involving the alleged use of performance-enhancing substances.

Flanked by his trusted "Team MP," a clean-faced Pacquiao admitted to testing positive. With malunggay, that is.

According to Pacquiao, he attributes his speed, strength and courage to the wonders of the miracle plant.

Moreover, the People's Champ also revealed that he now gets his daily malunggay fix from his favorite energy drink, Sting PowerPacq, which contains real malunggay extracts, a first in energy drink history.

Manny Pacquiao also admitted that he felt compelled to hold a press conference after social media sites were bombarded with controversial tweets and status updates that were linked to various articles about his alleged use. Reactions involving the controversy were mixed, with some taking Manny's side, and some accusing him of betraying the public's trust.

Now that the controversy has simmered down, Manny plans to stay positive and focus on the many tasks that he has at hand as both boxer and member of Congress.

And with Sting PowerPacq, he is confident he will be able to successfully fulfill all his duties, especially when the glory of the country is on the line.

Manny's press conference, biggest in local sports history

Men and women from the local and international media gathered last night at Manny Pacquiao's press conference at a hotel in the central business district to witness the People's Champ break his silence about a secret he's been keeping from the public.

Dubbed as one of the most controversial and biggest press conferences ever held for a local athlete, a hundred journalists from all over the globe, waiting for Manny Pacquiao's response to allegations of whether his substance use is true or false.

When Pacquiao and his entourage entered the building, the reporters went on a frenzy, scrambling to ask the boxer the question everyone wants an answer to. Even Manny's wife, Jinkee, was bombarded by the media.

Manny, composed and poised, stood behind the podium and gave a straightforward answer that he is indeed under the influence of something that gives him extra energy.

He reiterated to the tight-lipped crowd his resolve to bring out his secret to share to the public. He raised a wide grin and revealed that all these years, he's been taking malunggay, more so than ever before, now that it's in the new Sting PowerPacq, a new energy drink carrying the People's Champ's name. It gives him more strength and energy, hence it being his current favorite energy drink.

New energy drink causes buying frenzy

Ever since Manny Pacquiao revealed his secret in a press conference held last night at a well-known hotel in the metro, sales of the new energy drink he said has been the source of his new-found energy and strength skyrocketed. The media frenzy surrounding Pacquiao's revelation has caused Sting PowerPacq to increase its following, making it the most sought after energy drink in stores nationwide.

Sting Energy Drink and Manny Pacquiao partner up

Sting Energy Drink and Manny Pacquiao embarked on a monumental journey yesterday as Sting PowerPacq, the very first energy drink with Pacquiao's stamp of approval, was launched to the public.

Sting PowerPacq boasts of real malunggay extracts that gives energy and flavor that's fit for an eight-time weight division champion and is readily available for everyone to enjoy.

And now that everyone can taste Manny's refreshing secret, Pacquiao expects the masses to stay positive and energized with Sting PowerPacq.

The four faces of Manny Pacquiao

...the BOXING CHAMP

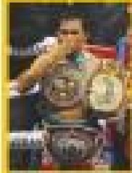
There are many boxers out there who throw punches harder than a ton of bricks falling on your face. They can make your face cave in, punch a hole in your gut and probably knock all your teeth off. There are a lot of great fighters out there. But what makes a great fighter?

We all know that Manny Pacquiao is a very decorated boxer, with eight world titles and countless wins under his belt.

He is indeed the Pound-for-Pound King and the People's Champ. He trains hard and dedicates hours and hours preparing for fights, improving each punch, each step, each move.

And he pours everything out into every match, dedicating each bout to his family, to his fans and his home country. He's a world-class fighter in his own right and nothing can take that away from him, not one draw, not one loss. But what really separates him from the rest is his heart and the millions behind his every punch.

To call Manny Pacquiao a "boxer" just won't do. He is indeed a champion.



...the FAMILY MAN

To the world, he is Manny Pacquiao the boxer, but as he steps out of the limelight, he goes home to the comfort of his wife and four children.

There's Jinkee, his wife, and his children, Emmanuel Jr. "Jimuel", Michael, Princess, and Queen Elizabeth "Queenie."

Pacquiao always has the best interest in mind for his kids, sending them to a prestigious international school not only because he can afford to do so, but because he wants assurance that his children receive the best education. As a husband, he showers his wife with many gifts and luxuries to make her feel like a queen.

Even Manny's mom, Dionisia, has been showered with Manny's blessings, giving her a house all for herself back in their hometown in General Santos City.

A lot of things are important for the People's Champ: serving and helping others, entertaining his fellow Filipinos and people across the globe, and winning boxing matches. But there's one thing that's more important than his family. They are the anchor that grounds Manny day in and day out, a constant reminder of what is truly important in his life.

...the POLITICIAN

Ever since Manny Pacquiao became a household name, a celebrity, a hero, [illegible] in most people's minds already, "Will he go into politics?"

Lo and behold, the People's Champ really did enter the [illegible] and joined Philippine politics.

One may think this is completely [illegible], considering what he really knows about being a politician. But beyond all the popularity he gained from becoming the People's Champ, [illegible], he's much more concerned with different and much deeper things than his own security.

His concerns include philanthropic foundations and public service. For instance, prior to [illegible] congressman, he talked about how his province of Sarangani, having a population of more than half a million, does not have a hospital. "Imagine that," Pacquiao says.

As for his future in politics, Manny has grown so [illegible] that it is certain that he will continue to serve his fellow Filipinos in any way he can.

...the CELEBRITY

He is more than a boxer now. He is a household name. He is a celebrity.

Manny Pacquiao's name is no longer just synonymous to the [illegible]. He is a symbol of hope to many Filipinos in his country [illegible] a big name in the Philippines, [illegible]

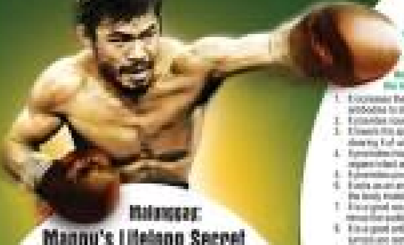
[illegible]

Manny is really a [illegible] celebrity [illegible] the country [illegible] the globe. Despite the controversies that come with the name and the media frenzy, he's still the old Manny Pacquiao underneath it all.

Today, he is not just a sports hero now. He is an [illegible] figure.

There's no doubt that there is more for Manny in the future as he continues on being a legend in his own right. And as he propels even higher in his career, [illegible] will surely be cheering him up.

Malunggay: The Secret Behind Sting PowerPacq



Ten Health Benefits of Malunggay

ADMINISTRATIVE ORDER
No. 2009-0005-A

SUBJECT: Addendum to Administrative Order No. 2009-0005 "Revised Policies and Guidelines on the Regulations on the Issuance of a License to Operate (LTO), Certificate of Conformity and Clearance for Customs Release Prescribed to Manufacturers, Importers, and Distributors of Toys in the Philippines."

The Department of Health issued Administrative Order (AO) No. 2009-0005 dated January 12, 2009 to regulate toys sold or given free in the Philippines. However, to ensure that the toys used by Filipino children are safe, AO 2009-0005 is hereby amended to include the following guidelines on the regulation of phthalates:

A. Prohibition on the sale of certain products containing phthalates¹

It shall be unlawful for any person to manufacture for sale, offer for sale, distribute in commerce, or import into the country any children's toy that contains concentrations of more than 0.1 percent of di-(2-ethylhexyl) phthalate (DEHP), dibutyl phthalate (DBP), or benzyl butyl phthalate (BBP).

B. Prohibition on the sale of additional products containing certain phthalates¹

It shall be unlawful for any person to manufacture for sale, offer for sale, distribute in commerce, or import into the country any children's toy that can be placed in a child's mouth that contains concentrations of more than 0.1 percent of diisononyl phthalate (DINP), diisodecyl phthalate (DIDP), or di-n-octyl phthalate (DnOP).

This Order shall take effect fifteen (15) days after its publication in an official gazette or in a newspaper of general circulation.

THE PHILIPPINE STAR GRADUATION SPECIAL

New Beginnings

by [illegible]

As another batch of excited graduates prepare for their next big step in their young lives, newly-grads Ma. Patricia Chang and Mara [illegible] — who also graduated with honors, look back on their respective college and high school experiences and how in spite of the stress and the pressure to succeed, can still be considered a very memorable and enriching experience.

Growing Pains

[illegible]

At some point in our lives, we've all felt that we're living a movie penned by John Hughes. Ever the patron saint of adolescent pangs, Hughes built an oeuvre of teen-centered flicks that traversed the most common plot points of a teenager's life. Hinging on self-discovery, social caste, love, and the eventual heartbreak, Hughes understood the elliptical tragicomedy that surrounded our adolescent years. Every viewing of each film proved its universality, capturing definitive moments in a mostly confusing point in our lives.
